Its Answer to Attempt to Place it in Bankruptcy.

CASE TO BE HEARD TODAY

Argument Advanced that the Trigg Company is Not Such a Corporation as to Come Within the National Bankruptcy Law.

The William R. Trigg Company, by counsel J. Jordan Leake, and Christian & Christian, attorneys, yesterday filed their answer. Accompanying the answer is a motion to dismiss the petition of creditors to have the said William R. Trigg Company adjudicated bankrupts and a demurrer to that petition. There are also filed answers and demurrers on the part of the Virginia Trust Company and the majority of the second mortgage bondholders.

Judge Waddill will, to-day in the Dis-

Judge Waddill will, to-day in the District Court, set a time for hearing the motion to dismiss the petitions and the prigument thereon.

The William R. Trigg Company in its answer alleges that it is not such a corporation as will come within the application of the national bankruptcy law; that the petitioners are not creditors having provable claims amounting to $500 in excess of securities held by them; that the Commercial Trust Company is not a creditor for any amount whatsoever, and that the petition does not show that any of the creditors has a provable claim exceeding $500.

QUESTION AT ISSUE.

The question at issue, or rather which is regarded as the crucial issue in The proceeding, is as to whether the amendment to the bankruptcy law making appointment of a receiver operate to force a company into bankruptcy is retroactive in its operation. It seems that when the receivership was determined upon the bankruptcy law did not make that ground for declaring a company bankrupts, but the law has since that date and prior to the filling of these petitions of creditors been amended so as to make the appointment of a receiver equivalent to declaring a company or firm bankrupt.

In its answer the William R. Trigg Company, without walving its motion to dismiss the petition or its demurrer thereto, does controvert such petition and file the following answer:

The said William R. Trigg Company is a corporation, but not a corporation engaged principally in manufacturig or in trading or in printing or publishing or in mercantile pursuits but principally engaged in building construction and repair of boats and vessels on orders from customers and in the operation of the Richmond dock as successors in law of the Richmond dock as successors in law of the Richmond dock as successors in law of the Richmond of the said William R. Trigg Company, having provable claims amounting in the agarcsate, in excess of securities held by them to $500, because all said petitioners hold liens or securities upon the entire amounts of their

That the alleged act of bankruptey litted by the said William R. Trigg any, namely, the appointment of a gr for said company because of invey on December 23d, 1002, does not tute an act of bankruptey under tute an act of bankruptey under to f July 1st, 1808, and therefore bettlion does not sufficiently allege manission of an act of bankruptey. Virginia Trust Company, by councilso files similar answers, makes r motion and enters similar der to the petition of the Seaboard Casting Company.

paid petition does not sufficiently allege the commission of an act of bankruptey. The Virginia Trust Company, by counsel, also files similar answers, makes similar motion and enters similar demurrer to the petition of the Seaboard Bieel Casting Company.

The second mortgage bondholders, including Henry M. Plagler, Virginia Passenger and Power Company, James N. Boyd, Robert S. Bosher, Thomas Atkinson, City Bank of Richmond, Joseph Bryan, Davenport & Co., Planters National Bank, S. W. Travers, S. D. Cronslaw and others also file answers and motions to dismiss and demurrers to the petition of the Seaboard Steel Casting Company and other creditors.

In its answer to the Frederick Post Company, of Chicago, and other creditors, who filed their petitions through Stern & Stern, attorneys, the company makes the same answer and offers the same notion to dismiss the petition and demurs to the petition. The following are the grounds stated for the motion to dismiss and the demurrer to the petition:

First, the petition is not properly verified; second, neither the appointment of a receiver nor the suing out of attachments against the property of the company by creditors constituted an act of bankruptcy; third, the petition does not allege that the William R. Trigg Company was insolvent at the time of suing out such attachments nor that said attachments were sued out within four months before filing such petition. Similar answers are filed by the Virginia Trust Company and the second mortagage bondholders.

and Well Attended.

The regular monthly meeting of the Baptist Sunday-School Association of Richmond and Manchester was held Sunday afternoon at the East-End Baptist Church. President W. D. Duke presided. The meeting was one of the most interesting held during the present year, and was largely attended. Rev. Dr. John Hannon, of Union Station Methodist Church, delivered a spiendid address, and his words of exhortation and encouragement to the young and old were inspiring. Instructive and entertaining. Rev. Joel T. Tucker, pastor of the church, also made a short talk, which was enjoyed.

daughter of the late Mr. James Dunlop, of this city, had been awarded the third antique scholarship for work sent by her to the annual league exhibit. The list of awards in full includes: First Life—J. F. Carlson, Art Students' League of Buffalo, N. Y. Second Life—Miss Ruth Heilprin, Corcoran School of Art.

Third Life—Miss Grace R. Shrive, Drexel Institute, Philadelphia.

Fourth Life—Miss Dell Heizer, Colorado College, Colorado Springs.

First Antique—Laurence Hirschberg, Art Students' League of Buffalo.

Becond Antique—M. Roberts, Colorado College, Colorado Springs.

Fourth Antique—Miss Ethel Dickinson, Baylor University, Wazo, Tex.

From this list it will be seen that Miss Dunlop came in competition with a number of the best and most advanced of American students' work. That she should win one of the eight scholarships given by the league is a great compliment to her ability and to the excellent training of Miss Fletcher.

The Richmond Art Club, which has only been recognized professionally for three years, has been, through Miss Fletcher's energy and Miss Dunlop's talent, placed alongside other institutions of its kind, which have been known for a much longer time.

Miss Dunlop will go abroad with Miss taient, placed alongate dider institutions of its kind, which have been known for a much longer time.

Miss Dunlop will go abroad with Miss
Fletcher and Miss Meredith for the summer to study art in Paris.

When she returns the 15th of next
October she will enter the Students' Art League of New York, to win fresh laurels for herself and for the club here, which will always feel a proprietary interest in her and whatever good fortune may come to her.

Miss Dunlop received numerous congratulations from her many friends who were rejoicing most sincerely in her good fortune. Since her graduation she has taught art and academic classes in Miss Ellett's school, where her valuable services have been accorded the fullest recognition.

THE BIBLE

Virginia Society to Try to Accomplish This Work.

REPORT OF THE BOARD

Ninetieth Anniversary of the Society Celebrated Last Sunday-Fine Address by Dr. Hodge.

Society of Virginia was celebrated Suncises held in the new auditorium of the Second Presbyterlan Church.

Quite a large attendance was present, and the service proved one of the most nteresting sort. Dr. W. V. Tudor presided, and Dr. Russell Cecil, Rev. R. H. sided, and Dr. Russell Cecil, Rev. R. H. Bennett and Rev. Tam Lebmann participated. The address for the occasion, one of the finest in the history of the society, was delivered by the Rev. E. B. Hodge, D. D., of Philadeiphia, secretary of education for the Northern Presbyterian Church. His text was Psalms 119, werse 130, "The Entrance of thy words giveth light." The speaker emphasized the need of the Bible in the home, in the schools, and as the basis of true civilization. He declared that the Bible ought to be used in secular schools because it is the finest classic in the English language, and because it contains the only true system of morals, and education without morals is defective. Dr. Hodge didn't see how anyone could object to the Bible as issued by the Bible Society of Virginia "without note or comment."

THE ANNUAL REPORT.

The annual report of the Board of Manngers of the society was submitted by the secretary, the Rev. W. S. Campbell. The report read in part as follows: There are many thousands of homes in the State in which no part of the word of God is found, and there are many thousands more of individuals destitute of the Scriptures. During each year therecome into Hampton Roads harbor vessels from all parts of the commercial world, on which there are from 40,000 to 50,000 men. a large majority of whom are entirely without the word of God. We have been able to do only a small port of what ought to have been done in supplying this great need.

The ever changing population of our State and local prisons needs our constant care. At least 5,000 copies of the Scriptures are needed every year for this purpose.

Thousands more are needed for the immates of almshouses and other Bennett and Rev. Tam Lehmann particl

State and local prisons needs our constant care. At least 5,000 copies of the Scriptures are needed every year for this purpose.

Thousands more are needed for the inmates of almshouses and other eleemmosynary institutions.

Strange as it may seem, we find very few Sunday-schools properly supplied with Bibles, and this is true not only of weak mission schools, but wen of many large and strong schools. We are doing what we can to awaken interest in this matter, and to supply the needs as far as we can. But this is such a great undertaking that we have accomplished only a very small part of it.

Into the mining sections of our State vast numbers of people are coming, many of them from foreign lands, most of them without the word of God. Among them our agents are working, doing much, but there is much more to be done before the needs can be supplied.

It is our earnest hope to be able to do something practical during the coming year in the way of introducing the Bible into many of the secular schools in which it is not now used.

For some reason which we cannot explain, the contributions received for our work from churches and individuals show a large falling off during the year. The contributions received during the preceding year were $2,090.56. Those received during the year fifts ended amounted to $2,464.73, a decrease of $225.83.

But notwithstanding this falling off of contributions we have been able to do the largest work done by the society in many years.

the largest work done by the society in many years.

The whole number of volumes put into circulation through our various agencies was 23,232, of which 5,542 were donated to those without the Scriptures. The whole number of volumes circulated during the preceding year was 19,985, showing an increase this year of 3,747 volumes.

Row. W. S. Campbell has continued in charge of the work of the society during the year as secretary and general agent, doing all the office work and superintending the work all over the State. He bought and sold, or shipped to our representatives, all the Bibles circulated by the society, received reports from colporteurs and agents, and did the bookkeeping in the office. He wrote 4,669 letters, and sent out 7,000 copies of our last annual report, and about 75,000 circulars in connection with our work.
